A free annual event inviting Islanders to celebrate and explore arts and culture were unveiled Tuesday in Charlottetown.

Culture Days is a cross-Canada initiative taking place Sept. 24-26 in British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec (under the existing event Journées de la culture), New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Labrador, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island and Sept. 17-19 in Alberta.

Culture Days invites Canadians to discover the inner workings of the arts and culture world and to explore their own creativity — all free of charge.

Interested artists and organizations can be a part of Culture Days, registering online at www.culturedays.ca.

Those who register activities will benefit from a national marketing campaign and communications campaign as well as access to materials to help promote activities within their communities.
